AIRMAIL

Good afternoon,

The Airforwarders Association works tirelessly to advocate on behalf of our members and their interests both at home and abroad. With the 100% screening deadline approaching in nearly six months, we are taking aggressive actions to inform shippers, particularly of delicate high-value goods, of the screening changes and possible consequences for cargo shipments. In the pharmaceutical industry, many companies are well informed and taking steps to become certified screeners at their facilities to ensure efficient shipment. However, inbound international cargo faces a number of hurdles and requires additional efforts to spread the word.

As such, we are pleased to announce our participation at the 9th Annual Cool Chain Europe 2010 Conference this week in Amsterdam. AfA will be speaking on a panel with the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) and American Airlines Cargo entitled, "Navigating the New US TSA Requirements: Why Layered Approaches Provide the Best Model of Security." For a full agenda of the conference, please visit <http://www.coolchaineurope.com/agenda.php>.

AfA is taking an increasingly active role in international cargo issues given the scope of our members, and our invitation to discuss US regulations with this audience is the first of many international events planned for the year.

Upon my return to the States, I will be drafting a recap of the conference for members to review.
